Michael,

I'd like to make one small tweak. Although its true, I want to strike the speed dial comment so my leadership doesn't get the impression I am skirting any of our competitive procurement rules. I also saw a spelling error in my title. Hope this works for you:

"I want to thank you, John, and your whole team for a great response and remediation at our facility. You responded with the right manpower and equipment in a timely manner. Your work was thorough and you maintained a very clean site. We greatly appreciate your work."

Hello David,

Nice to E-meet you. I'm glad our team delivered on The Mammoth Experience we strive so hard to achieve. I was forwarded your previous email feedback and was hoping for permission to use the following quote as it's written below:

"I want to thank you, John, and your whole team for a great response and remediation at our facility. You responded with the right manpower and equipment in a timely manner. Your work was thorough and you maintained a very clean site. We greatly appreciate your work and I already have you on speed dial."

If there is a need for any changes or updates to the text or how it's listed. Please advise..

Thanks again for your time and continued trust in Mammoth. We look forward to being your go-to source in difficult times like these.

Jonathan,

I would be happy to help with a testimonial/reference. Our policy is that we can speak to our experience and observations without directly endorsing Mammoth. I will look for an email from your marketing team.

Thanks again for a job very well done during a challenging event.

Dave, I wanted to thank you for your kind words to Jake, John, and the Mammoth team.

Would it be alright if we use bits and pieces of your email along with your name and company to list as a testimonial? Our Director of marketing would put it together and share it with you first.

Please let me know at your convenience and thanks again!
